So, who do you think you are?

Today's Date: ____/____/_____

The purpose of this exercise is to see how many descriptive details you can possibly come up with about yourself without pausing to edit them in any way. Just describe yourself in as many ways as you can think of (with one detail, characteristic, attribute or flaw per line), based on everything you have ever known, read or heard from others on the subject of "you" (and are pretty sure that you already know even better than anyone else).
